DEPARTMENT STORE
SALES IN ELEVENTH
DISTRICT INCREASEGAIN OF THIRTY-EIGHT PER CENT OVER FEBRUARY
SHOWN BY REPORT

DALLAS, April 30.—(AP)—March sales of department stores in larger cities, stimulated by pre-Easter buying, were 38 per cent larger than in February, says the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, released today. This record exceeded that of the corresponding month last year by 73 per cent.

Notwithstanding the showing of department stores, the review says that "heavy and widespread rains, which materially improved conditions in the agricultural and livestock industries, and the continued strong demand for merchandise in both wholesale and retail channels were the outstanding developments in this district during the past 30 days."

The review explains that in connection with the heavy increase in department store sales records over March, 1933, due allowance should be made for the effect of the bank holiday on that month's retail trade activity. Wholesale distribution reflected a further increase as compared with the previous month and exceeded that of March, 1933, by a wide margin. While retailers generally show little disposition to buy ahead the sustained consumer demand has necessitated a heavy volume of replacement purchases.

Collections Well Sustained. Collections have been well sustained for this season. The number and liabilities of commercial failures, while seasonally larger than in February, were materially lower than a year ago. Debts to individual accounts at banks in principal cities were 8 per cent

Man Suffering
From Delusions
Killed Priest

JERSEY CITY, April 30.—(AP)—Dominick Marra's "delusions of persecution" were blamed today for the slaying of a priest and the wounding of a priest's sister-in-law at the rectory of the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel yesterday.

Marra, a carpenter, entered the rectory just after the Rev. Julius Moscati, 52, had officiated at noon mass. The priest was slain when he attempted to shield his sister-in-law, Mrs. Christina Moscati, A bullet penetrated his heart. Mrs. Moscati was shot three times. Her condition today is critical.

Marra, running from the place, was captured by a passing policeman who had heard the shots. He told police that Mrs. Moscati owed him $245 in connection with some work he had done, and that he sought to collect it.

Relatives of the man said he suffered a severe head injury three weeks ago, and that since then he has suffered "delusions of persecution."

LONGSHOREMEN AT FOUR TEXAS
PORTS PLAN STRIKE MIDNIGHT
MONDAY UNLESS DEMANDS MET

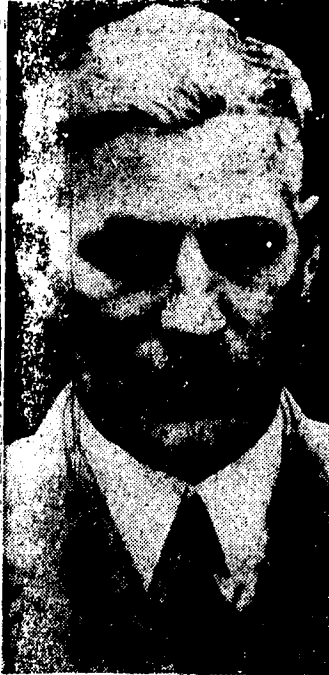

(By The Associated Press) Secretary of the International Longshoremen's Association announced today that the organization would call a strike at four Texas ports at midnight Monday unless its demands were met.

Shipping operators declared it was up to the longshoremen to make a decision. Roger M. Busfield, executive secretary of the regional labor board, said the government could do nothing further in the wage and hour dispute at this time.

"The government was requested to arbitrate in the dispute between the International Longshoremen's Association and the M. S. A. T. The government has refused to do so," said the executive secretary of the International Longshoremen's Association, who was noncommittal as to intentions of his organization, saying he "didn't know whether the strike threat would be carried out."

(By The Associated Press) A threatened strike of longshoremen at four Texas ports cast a shadow across the business horizon of the country today as older labor troubles in the automobile industry were ameliorated somewhat by negotiations over wage matters which satisfactorily ended.

Suspended Doctor

Dr. N. C. Mortensen, suspended St. Paul city health officer, who admitted he treated John Dillingham and John Hamilton for gunshot wounds early in March. He said he did not suspect they were criminals until he saw one carrying a machine gun. His story is being brought before the grand jury.

CHICAGO, April 30.—(AP)—Four gunmen climaxed a two-mile chase with a hand to hand battle with police in suburban Bellwood early today—the officers said one of the four, all of whom escaped, "looked like" John Dillingham, the hunted killer.

Another of them said Police Lieutenant Joseph Hagemeyer, who shot at the men, began the chase in a police car when the gunmen's machine failed to halt at a red light. The police caught up when the other machine pulled up at a filling station.

Two of the gunmen jumped out. One, armed with a machine gun, forced the three officers to give up their weapons and struck them. The other two men, remaining in the car, held machine guns on the officers.

The four then resumed their flight, eluding Forest Park police.

FAMILY KIDNAPED
GIRL APPEALS FOR
RANSOM CONTACTROBLES FAMILY READY TO PAY; GRANDFATHER HOME
FROM MYSTERY TRIP

TUCSON, Ariz., April 30.—(AP)—Bernabe Robles, aged grandfather of kidnapped June Robles, returned at noon today from a mysterious errand in the interior of Sonora, Mexico, and spokesmen for the family appealed publicly to the abductors, declaring money to meet the $15,000 ransom demand "will be ready" when a contact is arranged.

The grizzled former cattle baron's sudden re-appearance after his unexplained Mexico trip of a night and half a day was almost simultaneous with the first public overture to deal with six-year-old June's abductors.

The circumstances gave impetus to reports that definite arrangements for an exchange here being made on the part of the family, and that final details, including the preparation of the ransom money, had awaited only the grandfather's return.

The original instructions, included in the ransom note delivered to Fernando Robles, June's father, two hours after she was spirited away last Wednesday, will be followed, it was indicated, or a row arrangement will be made if the kidnapers choose to communicate an amended plan.

STOCK EXCHANGE
CONTROL BILL GETS

TARIFF DEBATE

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP)—The stock exchange control bill received its baptism of congressional fire today with opening of house consideration.

The months of committee investigation and argument were culminated, on municipal bankruptcy legislation for the time, the senate looked to taking up market regulation, too, possibly before the house acts late in the week.

For President Roosevelt, the new week brought the sugar production limit bill back to his desk. Secretary Wallace had looked it over. It was expected to be signed tomorrow or Wednesday.

The treasury formally set up the $2,000,000 stabilization fund, with which to deal in foreign currencies to maintain desired dollar quotations, and in government bonds. Officials were decidedly mum as to how it was being utilized, however.

A senate committee received conflicting views on the administration's reciprocal tariff bill. Quick termination of the hearings was planned but the senate probably won't start considering the measure until it has acted on stock market regulation.

MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE

JACKSON, Miss., April 30.—(AP)—Union of American Methodism with protection of racial and national distinctions and development was urged today by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in adoption of a resolution which continued a commission to confer with other branches of Methodism on plans for unity and solidarity.

Just before the vote was taken on the resolution, which was roundly applauded by hundreds of delegates, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., entered the auditorium and took his seat upon the stage among the group of his fellow bishops.

Bishop Cannon entered the rostrum from the bishop's room to the side of the stage in the midst of the session after being delayed several days in reaching here because of his court trial in Washington where he was acquitted of AUSTIN, April 30.—(AP)—L. H. Lacy and company of Dallas was low bidder today on improvement on highways 2 and 44 in Waco at $54,249. The improvement will consist of grading, drainage structures and concrete paving.

Work may start when the bid is approved by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads since the project will be paid for from national re-employment funds.

Low bidders on other federal projects were:

Anderson and Freestone, Trinity river bridge on highway 22, L. H. Lacy and company $95,101.

Railway Head to Announce Terms
For Settlement

KANSAS CITY, April 30.—(AP)—C. E. Johnston, president of the Kansas City Southern railroad, said here today he probably would announce soon the terms of settlement of a wage dispute between his company and four railroad brotherhoods.

The long controversy between the railroad and its engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen which for a time threatened to precipitate a strike, is expected to be settled by a modification of the present rules pertaining to working hours and rates of pay.

It was indicated the terms of the settlement would be mutually satisfactory.

INDICT HAMILTON

CRIMINAL STATUTETRIAL TEXAS DESPERADO
SET FOR NEXT MONDAY
IN DALLAS COURT

DALLAS, April 30.—(AP)—Raymond Hamilton was indicted today as an habitual criminal for his alleged participation in the robbery March 19 of the Grand Prairie State Bank. The 20-year-old outlaw's previous conviction for robbery of a bank at La Grange was cited in the habitual criminal allegation.

District Judge Noland G. Williams set Hamilton's trial for next Monday and announced that he would summon a special venire of 300 men for jury service.

If convicted as an habitual criminal, only two sentences can result for Hamilton—life imprisonment or death. Under the law the minimum punishment as life imprisonment, where the habitual criminal indictment charges a capital offense and cites a previous conviction for a capital offense where the death penalty was sought.

District Attorney Robert Hurt said he would demand that Hamilton, who as the bank robbery expert of the desperate Clyde Barrow gang of criminals, committed a long string of offenses, be sent to the electric chair. Hamilton already is under sentence to 263 years in prison and prosecutors are solely interested in having him given death.

IN LONDON

By GLENN BABB Staff.
TOKYO, April 30.—(AP)—The Japanese public will be kept in the dark, officially at least, concerning the note in which the United States and Great Britain were reassured concerning Japan's intentions in China.

A foreign office attaché told the Associated Press the government at present has no intention of publishing the note, explaining it is unnecessary since Sir John Simon is making it public in London today.

Observers were quick to point out, however, that by not releasing the statement to the Japanese press and public, the government would thereby escape the domestic and political consequences of what might be interpreted as a partial retraction of the foreign office China policy declaration of April 17.

The note being made public before parliament by the British foreign secretary was presented April 26 to United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew and the British ambassador, Sir Francis Lindley.

This statement, by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, was phrased in more conciliatory terms than that of April 17. It was described as the only "official" interpretation of the earlier declaration of

CHARGES IN CONNECTION
BREMER KIDNAPING

CHICAGO, April 30.—(AP)—John J. "Boss" McLaughlin has confessed to handling $55,000 of the ransom collected from Edward Bremer, St. Paul banker, the federal bureau of investigation disclosed today.

McLaughlin was held in $100,000 bond Saturday for removal to St. Paul for trial under the "Lindbergh" kidnapping act.

His arrest followed the recovery of $2,665 in $5 and $10 bills identified as part of the ransom money. The "hot" currency was found on William E. Vidler, a gambler last Thursday.

Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the Chicago office of the bureau of investigation, announced that McLaughlin had made a full confession of his part in the disposition of portions of the $200,000 ransom paid for Bremer's freedom after 23 days a captive of kidnapers.

Four men were in federal custody—McLaughlin and Vidler already arraigned, and two others

John J. McLaughlin of Chicago, former Illinois state legislator and old-time politician, was under arrest Saturday on a federal charge in the kidnaping of Edward Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker who paid $200,000 ransom several months ago. McLaughlin was seized on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner Walker, who's outfit he possesses part of the Bremer ransom money.

TRIO OF CONVICTS

STATE PENITENTIARYBREAK IS MADE THROUGH
GUARD SYSTEM WATCHING FOR DILLINGER DELIVERY

COLUMBUS, April 30.—(AP)—Three convicts with a smuggled pistol who slid over the wall of Ohio penitentiary after disarming a guard were free today as Warden E. J. Thomas promised "an investigation indefinitely until we can find out, if possible, where the gun came from."

The three prisoners—Martin Schmidt, a bank robber; Arthur R. Koon, an auto thief, and Rufus Decker, a diplomatically worked their way through a guard which for weeks has been watching for an attempt to free three former members of John Dillinger's gang.

Warden Thomas who tomorrow will celebrate his 21st anniversary as head of the institution, said the gun either had been smuggled in by an unfaithful guard or was the legendary pistol which "fan" grape vines rumored has been hidden in the prison for years.

Flourishing the pistol, the mercurial 34 fellow convicts and two civilian officers climbed a ladder to the top of the wall on the pretext of repelling a searchlight, disarmed the tower guard and slid to the ground on a cable which they had brought along. They took a shotgun from the guard and cut the telephone wires leading to the prison office.

UNITED STATES CHAMBER OF

IT LIKES RECOVERY OR NOT

By J. R. BRACKETT
WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP)—A warning of a possible "breakdown" in the recovery program was given today by the committee on federal taxation of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The report, with the findings of other special committees—outspoken on criticisms of some government actions—will be acted upon by the chamber as a whole, which opens its annual meeting tomorrow.

The business men will be called upon to vote for an attack on the securities act, in a report of the committee on regulation of securities.

"Unless the act is properly modified," the committee found, "there is little, if any, prospect of the origination and sale of new and refunding corporate issues in needed volume."

"Without the issuance and sale of such securities recovery will be delayed, if not prevented."

The committee on federal taxation, discussing the new legislation imposing higher income tax rates, assets income tax payers will not co-operate unless they believe the tax fair.

The committee on federal expenditures urged that "emergency conditions should not be made an excuse for government projects that encroach upon private enterprise, and means should be found for liquidating any encroaching activities that have been undertaken."

The committee also added a warning: "Economic recovery cannot be brought about and maintained by

ALL GARWOOD STATE
BANK CASH IS TAKEN
IN BOLD ROBBERYLOOT ESTIMATED BETWEEN FOUR AND FIVE THOUSAND

COLUMBUS, Tex., April 30.—(AP)—The Garwood State Bank of Garwood, in this section, was robbed today of all the money on hand excepting $4.10, by a man operating alone.

The robber forced J. L. Chapman, cashier, into his car and drove east. A man who had cut the telephone wires and apparently was an associate of the man who held up the bank, was picked up near Calhoun and Chapman was put out of the car.

The robber was traveling in a (Chevrolet) Coupe with yellow wheels which carried two extra tires.

Bank officials later said the robber escaped with between four and five thousand dollars.

The man went about the job leisurely, going first to a nearby confectionery where he ordered a soft drink. Then he parked his automobile about 30 yards to the side of the bank and entered the front door.

Going to the cashier's window, the robber asked the cashier if he knew Ben Wilson. Chapman replied that he had never heard of the man. The robber then asked Chapman if he knew Dave Dundquist.

"Certainly, I know him," replied Chapman. "He is a rice farmer."

Chapman said the man then drew a pistol and at the same time jerked a money sack from his pocket and ordered Chapman, an older Col. Hopkins, assistant cashier to "fill it up and make it snappy."

The armed man ordered Mrs. Hopkins to go into the vault and put the money in the sack. She loaded the money in, including both silver and currency, and handed the sack to the robber, who then forced Chapman to help him carry it to the car, ordering Mrs. Hopkins to "stay in that

Hawaii Demands
Statehood With Renewed Vigor

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP)—The territory of Hawaii renewed today its demand for statehood.

The sunny island's delegate in congress—Lincoln L. McConaless—introduced a bill to this end. Simultaneously, similar demands from Puerto Rico were heard on Capitol Hill.

Both island groups, which have been under American control since the war with Spain in 1898, long have clamored for statehood and now are particularly emphatic in their demands because of alleged discriminatory treatment in the Jones-Costigan sugar bill.

The Hawaiian Islands have a population of about 360,000 largely of Asiatic strain. The latest census showed about 40 per cent were of Japanese origin, with numerous Chinese and Filipinos.

Couple Charged
With Mistreating
And Holding Girl

NACOGDOCHES, April 30.—(AP)—The forcible detention and mistreatment of Sibel Tillery, 16, was charged against Mr. and Mrs. John Carnes in a complaint signed by members of the sheriff's department today. The complaint was accepted by County Attorney Trammel Lacey.

The Tillery girl is the daughter of George Tillery, living three miles south of Nacogdoches, and is a niece of Representative Edwin Tillery.

Carnes and his wife were held in jail here. County Attorney Lacey said he would object to their being granted bond.

Sheriff Carl Butler said he was informed the girl was taken away from her home the afternoon of April 24 in an automobile. Her father asked officers all over East Texas to search for her and finally she was located at Livingston, where officers said she had been forced to dance. She was returned to her home and the Carnes couple was arrested.

MISSING FLORIDA CHILD IS FOUND IN SAN ANTONIO

CALIFORNIA COUPLE HELD AFTER KIDNAPING CHARGES ARE FILED IN MIAMI

SAN ANTONIO, April 28.—(P)—A man and his wife were held here today for Miami police after a three-year-old Florida child was found in San Antonio.

Robert Moran was detained by detectives, while Mrs. Moran and the child were under special guard at the tourist camp.

Moran, who said he owns a tourist camp in San Fernando, Calif., told officers the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Goodman of Whitman, Mass., had persuaded him and his wife to adopt the child.

The two couples, after separating in Miami, made arrangements to meet in St. Petersburg, Fla. The Goodmans failed to appear on schedule, and the Morans drove on leisurely to New Orleans.

The Goodmans were virtually destitute, Moran said, and he had given Goodman $50 to tide him over. The Goodmans have several other children.

Moran scoffed at the idea of kidnapping. He was held, however, after Detective Sergeant D. E. Kelly talked via long distance with Miami police.

Miami police informed local officers that detectives would be sent here immediately to obtain custody of Moran. The detectives have warrants charging Moran with kidnaping; police were informed.

Moran claimed the recovery of the child ruined his and his wife's plans to rear the child as their own. They were to return to San Antonio and tell their friends the child was their own, he said.

Several attempts to communicate with Moran by letter had failed, Moran said, and he took it to mean the Goodmans no longer were greatly interested in the child. Moran said that on one occasion in Miami the Goodmans went to a dance, leaving the baby in an open trailer during a rain.

Police took Moran in custody on a telephoned tip. Moran readily admitted the child was Franklin Delano Roosevelt Goodman.

FILLING IN ABOUT FOUNDATION TODAY AT COURT HOUSE

Workmen were busy on the courthouse repair project Saturday morning, with crews filling in about the foundation at the northeast corner. One crew was filling in the space about the repaired foundations while another contingent was busy tamping the dirt.

The repairs on the eastern section of the building are nearing completion with the exception of the work of filling in about the foundations, both inside and outside of the building.

As soon as the work is completed on the eastern and adjacent wings, the scene of operations will be shifted to the western side of the structure.

HER STEP-HUSBAND WILL BE PRESENTED FRIDAY EVENING

Aubrey Farmer, a popular member of the Senior class has the leading role of an incurable romanticist in the senior play, "Her Step Husband," which will be presented in the high school auditorium on Friday night, April 27.

Frank McPherson ably portrays the character of Mr. Marshall, who is not in sympathy with his wife's romantic ideas but who manages to become entangled in her plans.

The part of Jerry Niles, who poses as Mr. Marshall, just to be accommodating is taken by Robert Mitchell.

These three characters have a supporting cast, including Mavis Mason, Aunt Emmy; Sidney Miller, Lippy Lanigan; Edward Harris, Oliver Shale; Beth Dupree, Sylvan Allen; Mrs. Marshall, friend; Maxine Cooper, Florence Ainslie, a cousin; and Margaret Hawley, Stella, a maid.

The price of admission is 35c. Tickets may be obtained from the high school students.

Oak Valley Home Demonstration Club Met on Wednesday

The Oak Valley Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon, April 25, in the home of Mrs. Edith Little. Mrs. Little was called to order by president Mrs. T. E. Young, roll was called and members answered by giving number of families helped with canning.

Program for the meeting was "County Money and Its Expenditures." Various topics came under this, one for discussion was "The Responsibility of the County Treasurer in the Budgeting of the County." Budget, after the discussion a refreshment plate of punch and cake was served.

There were three additions to the club, Mrs. G. C. Cowden, Mrs. Ernest Bond and Mrs. Claude Longford.

The meeting adjourned to meet Friday, May 4, at 8 o'clock. Every one remember the time in a supper Friday night, April 27.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION FOR PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATIONS HELD AT FREE SCHOOL FRIDAY

Through the efforts of the County Council Parent Teacher Association of Navarro County, of which Mrs. John B. Davis is president, a school of instruction was conducted by Mrs. A. E. Wood of Athens, the state president, Friday, April 27 at the Robert E. Lee school.

Seventeen Parent-Teacher units were represented, including the six from this county. The school was in attendance which was very encouraging for the first all-day meeting of the County Council.

The meeting was held in the auditorium of the school which was made quite attractive for the occasion with bowls of lovely pink, white and red, and a low, yellow bowl of purple iris and sunburst roses combined that adorned the speakers' table.

After the meeting, Mrs. Davis, at 10 a. m., she asked all to stand and give reverent attention to the Congress of the United States.

CORSICANA OFFICE OF RE-EMPLOYMENT SERVICE MADE KEY

SUPERVISION OVER SIX COUNTIES BE VESTED IN LOCAL HEADQUARTERS

Announcement was made Friday that the Corsicana office of the National Re-employment Service had been designated as one of the 23 "key" offices in the state and in the future would supervise operations in six counties including Navarro, Limestone, Houston, Leon, Mason, and Houston, becoming District Office No. 15.

A committee composed of W. P. McCammon, chairman; Ted B. Ferguson, Lowry Martin, Mrs. C. E. King, and A. Haslam, will assist in the administering and supervision of the district office. A meeting of the committee will be held within a few days.

Ray W. Morgan, acting manager of the unit, will be the supervisor of activities for the six counties according to an announcement made by C. E. Belk of Austin, field supervisor.

All public works administration activities as well as private placements will be handled by the district office for the six counties, and clerical forces will also be centered in Corsicana; all transfers of labor will be made by the district office.

Officials stated that the offices were located in communities where such a service was normally needed, and are designed to serve the general public as well as PWA activities. Provision has been made for extending the service to all outlying counties where PWA programs are announced.

All public works administration activities as well as private placements will be handled by the district office for the six counties, and clerical forces will also be centered in Corsicana; all transfers of labor will be made by the district office.

Officials stated that the offices were located in communities where such a service was normally needed, and are designed to serve the general public as well as PWA activities. Provision has been made for extending the service to all outlying counties where PWA programs are announced.

Ray W. Morgan, acting manager of the unit, will be the supervisor of activities for the six counties according to an announcement made by C. E. Belk of Austin, field supervisor.

Weir Surprises Steel Industry With Earnings

PITTSBURGH, April 27.—(P)—Dynamic E. T. Weir—Ernie to his friends—shook the giant steel industry money could be made during the darkest hours of depression, further surprised it today with the first quarter earnings statement of his National Steel Corporation.

In three months the concern earned 76 cents a share on its 2-1/2-38 3/4 shares of stock outstanding, as much as paid all last year in dividends. Steel earnings had been depressed by the loss of numerous industrial firms were giving Weir steel orders in sympathy with his fight against the labor board.

Net earnings were $1,642,327 after taxes of $493,700 for interest and $363,000 for federal income taxes. Gross earnings had exceeded $3,844,000 for the first quarter of 1933 of $2,885,844 and of $2,425,350 for the first quarter of 1934.

First quarter 1934 earnings for Bethlehem Steel, $902,000; Jones and Laughlin $1,924,000 and Republic Steel $58,600. Inland Steel was the only large company outside National to make a profit, clearing $1,104,000.

Justice of the Peace Walter Richman conducted the inquest and returned a verdict of suicide. It happened, because of which he was given a 60-day furlough recently, was said by members of his family to have driven Captain O'Neal to his own death.

The bullet, from a .45 caliber single-action pistol, entered his mouth and came out through the top of his head. The shot was fired a few minutes after he and Mrs. O'Neal had arisen.

Mrs. O'Neal had gone to the kitchen to prepare breakfast and Captain O'Neal went into the bathroom.

B. E. Johnson, a neighbor, heard Mrs. O'Neal scream and ran to the O'Neals' home. He said he found the ranger captain on the floor, with his head in the lap of his youngest daughter, Miss Margaret O'Neal, 18. Two other daughters, Virginia and Ada O'Neal, also were in the house.

Captain O'Neal had been on furlough for about two weeks and last week had made a pleasure trip to North Texas.

He had been a peace officer since he was 19 when he became a deputy sheriff in Grayson county. Later he bought eight sections of land in Pecos county and ranched for a time, but it was not long before he was serving as a deputy sheriff at Fort Stockton.

While still a young man he entered the ranger service, during the lawless days of West Texas. As a sergeant under Captain Monte Lee, he was active in the cleaning up the Big Bend country. Although Captain O'Neal seldom spoke of the "old days," tradition has it that 16 Mexican bandits were killed in the fight in which he participated.

Captain O'Neal was stationed in the Ranger old fields during the boom a few years ago.

The captain was transferred to Fort Worth March 1, 1934, and succeeded Captain Tom Hickman as head of the rangers in this district. He has lived here continuously ever since.

POSSE PUTS END TO WILD ESCAPE PAIR OF CONVICTS

CALIFORNIA OFFICERS RE- LEASED BEFORE DESPER- ADOES MEET END

VICTORVILLE, Cal., April 28.—(P)—Sudden death at the hands of quick-shooting posse of desert folk ended the flight of two escaped San Quentin convicts, one of whom was characterized by authorities as second only to John Dillinger as a desperado.

In a running exchange of gunfire three miles south of this town, death came quickly to Wanda T. Stewart, 28, and Walter H. Wyeth, 40. The two had slugged their way out of San Quentin prison Thursday.

The convicts were trapped by a hastily summoned band, composed of a deputy sheriff and three deputized civilians, as they drove toward Victorville from San Bernardino, where a short while before they had released two policemen, whom they kidnapped in San Rafael and forced to accompany them on the ride that led through death valley.

Information of the release of the two policemen from San Bernardino, Deputy Sheriff R. Stanley Snidger, with three civilians, Lou Miller, M. M. Black and Carl McNew, drove south to meet the escaping convicts. The fugitives rode in a police car which they had taken from their kidnap victims.

An automobile with a tattered, loomed ahead of Snidger, and sped by him and his deputies. Snidger ordered the automobile around and gave chase. As the deputies in civilian ground the fugitives opened fire, which was returned.

After a chase of nearly a mile, the fugitives car crashed into an embankment. Both men were dead. None of the pursuers was injured.

Ranger Captain O'Neal Commits Suicide Today

FORT WORTH, April 28.—(P)—Captain Harry T. O'Neal of the Texas Rangers, veteran peace officer and head of the ranger force in this district, died today in his district home.

A bullet through his brain this morning.

Justice of the Peace Walter Richman conducted the inquest and returned a verdict of suicide. It happened, because of which he was given a 60-day furlough recently, was said by members of his family to have driven Captain O'Neal to his own death.

Fairfield Woman Wins Damages After Accident Injuries

FAIRFIELD, April 28.—(Sp.)—Damages amounting to $4200 were awarded to Mrs. Maggie Stubbs of Fairfield by a jury in the Eighth-seventh district court Thursday.

Dr. R. E. Bing of Oakwood and the American General Insurance Company, were the defendants in the suit, which was a result of injuries received by the plaintiff in an automobile accident.

Stubbs was represented by H. L. Willford, George W. Fryer, P. O. French and Sam McCorkle, while the defendants were represented by King, Wood & Morrow of Houston, and A. V. Geppert, of Teague.

Valuable Old Whiskey Burned Early Saturday

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 28.—(P)—Twenty thousand barrels of whiskey, some of it 21 years old, were destroyed in a spectacular $5,000,000 fire that swept the Shenley owned James E. Pepper distillery near Lexington today.

A night watchman, Stanley Travis, 24, died in a Lexington hospital from burns received when he was trapped between two blazing buildings. Investigators said the fire started when Travis threw gasoline into a heating stove.

The distillery, established in 1870, was one of the oldest in America.

LARGE NUMBER DUMP BODY TRUCKS TO BE NEEDED ABOUT MAY 1

A demand for 40 or 50 good dump body trucks with dual wheels preferred but not required has been received by District Engineer, U. S. National Re-employment Service, in Corsicana, according to Ray W. Morgan, manager. The trucks will probably be needed about May 1, and truck owners are urged to register at the employment office on North Beaton street immediately.

A number of calls have been received recently for housekeepers and waitresses and all unemployed women are requested to register for the different types of work for which they are qualified.

Manager Morgan also called attention to the fact that every man and woman must report one every three days to renew their registrations, and stressed the importance of keeping a correct street address and telephone number on the file of the office at all times.

All placements made by the National Re-employment service are made to private individuals, industry, or PWA projects. Mr. Morgan said that the only approved PWA project in Navarro county is the PWA project on Highway 22; several other projects are pending.

GUNS FOR BOTH SIDES

It is argued plausibly that the private armament industry must be maintained because it is essential to national defense. When a country has to defend itself, an efficient arms industry, ready to produce whatever is essential for fighting, is a great asset. As ordinarily conducted, however, there is a big hole in the argument. It has been revealed lately in many countries that the armament makers sell impartially to both sides. While arming their fellow-countrymen they are also arming their enemies. While professing to support nationalism they are as international as any other exporting industry.

Secretary Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota heads a senatorial committee recently appointed to inquire into the American armament industry. As a result of long interest in this question, he has little hope of finding that our makers of ships, guns and ammunition are any more inclined to place patriotism before profits than their foreign brethren are. "I venture to say that if we went to war with Japan," he remarked recently, "our men would be mowed down by munitions sold to the Japanese by the same firms that supplied our own fighting men."

It is well to have this question cleared up. It has never come to an issue before. What was done in the past was tolerated by general opinion. But it grows clear that there will be a higher ethical standard in the future. And if private business will not rise to it, there will be a demand to make armament manufacture a government monopoly.

CREDIT REVIVES

For some time hardly anyone in this country could borrow money from private capitalists except the federal government. It could still sell its bonds. But few states could do so, and municipal credit was almost extinct.

Now capital is re-entering the municipal investment field, and investment bankers are getting up courage again to underwrite state and city bond issues. Two New England communities have turned down PWA loans and got the funds they wanted in the open market. A Louisiana loan for several millions was oversubscribed by a syndicate. New Jersey sold more than $2,000,000 of construction bonds for the fancy price of 106.15.

It is but a step now to the ready lending of money for worthy private business purposes. When that comes, business will be all set to go.

Maybe Dr. Wirt should get after the "Unofficial Observer" at Washington who writes, in a popular book: "We are having a revolution, and the revolutionary process will take from 10 to 20 years."

Proportional representation in industry, recognizing minority rights, will give that principle a boost in government, too. Some cities have it already.

There's nothing new under the sun. Once we had a government of "Best Minds." Now it's a "Brain Trust."

Premier Dollfuss of Austria may be a good egg, but audiences have taken to showering him with bad ones.

THE SENATE TAX BILL

The new federal revenue bill, as shaped by the Senate, aims to raise two or three times as much additional revenue as appears necessary to meet the government's "regular" budget. It has gone far beyond the unplanned expenditures for government employees and war veterans voted by Congress over the President's veto.

It would be pleasant to have all that new revenue rolling into the federal treasury, from a bookkeeping standpoint. But government is more than book-keeping, and so is business. Critics point out logically that such taxation is deflationary, at a time when the government's whole recovery policy is based on the principle of moderate, controlled reflation.

"The time to deflate is in a period of prosperity," remarks one of the leading analysts. "The time to inflate is at the low point of depression. There is no sense in applying both policies at once and letting the one cancel out the other."

It will be more profitable to tax the rich heavily after business has recovered. This patent fact may receive the consideration it deserves as the Senate bill goes to conference in the Senate and House committees. The House bill was more logical and moderate. And constitutionally, tax bills are primarily the business of the House.

FAMILY OPINIONS

Whatever anybody thinks about the government's air mail action, by this time, is what he thinks—and that's that. Opinion one way or another isn't going to be changed much. But before the subject is forgotten, here is an interesting bit of history to place alongside of the government's dramatic action and its stormy sequel. Heywood Brown, in a recent column, dragged it into the light. He had been looking into a book by Charles A. Lindbergh, and found these passages:

"The federal government must establish a financial system that is independent of private monopoly control."

"The federal government must own and operate the main lines in the telegraph and telephone systems."

"All transportation should be as near to actual cost as it is possible to have it."

"The postal system is successful when compared with privately owned business of any kind; but it would be pre-eminently more successful if the other services we designate were also operated by the government."

These statements were addressed to the President. They were written by Chas. A. Lindbergh, the congressman, not the aviator. And it isn't necessary, of course, that a son should agree with his father.

BRITISH BUDGET SURPLUS

While the United States with its vast recovery program is going into the hole to the extent of several billions for the present fiscal year, Great Britain accomplishes the surprising feat of ending her year March 31 with a surplus of $160,000,000. Her total receipts have been $3,730,000,000 and her expenditures $3,570,000,000.

How does Britain, with only about one-third of our national population, wealth and income, and a debt as big as ours, collect as much money as we do, meet expenses and have some left over? There is no mystery about it. The British people pay income taxes of 25 per cent. And they really pay. There are no exempted millionaires and hardly any exemptions worth mentioning for the small-salaried man

ANOTHER PROBLEM BOY

—By Clive Weed

CRUSTS

Another sign of the times was the parade of several hundred men and women in Washington the other day, in protest against discontinuance of the Civil Works program. They marched to the office of Administrator Hopkins and sent a committee to see the President.

Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, acting as spokesman for the delegation that talked with Mr. Hopkins, remarked that in abandoning the CWA, "you are going back to the old game of seeing how many crusts can keep the people quiet—from starving on one hand and from rising on the other."

That is a sharp way of putting it. The government, acting in behalf of the American public, surely has a more kindly and generous intent than Mr. Thomas gives it credit for. At the same time, his curt statement, with the demonstration behind it, hints at a big problem.

It is well known how any help or service in behalf of an individual or group soon comes to be regarded as a vested interest or inalienable right. Thus when a government starts distributing food and giving people work, it is hard to stop.

The hungry must be fed somehow. The unemployed must be employed somehow. The government, seeing the impossibility of stopping relief employment immediately, has substituted another relief agency for the CWA—the Federal Work Relief. It is hoped that this new body can finish the job and go out of business in a few months. But it cannot unless private industry absorbs the idle. Here is the big task confronting the government and the nation.

Walter Lippmann seems to think it's no more than fair to set up two hobgoblins, the Brain Trust and Wall Street, against each other. O. K., says the Man in the Street—meaning Main Street. Let 'em eat each other up.

There may be labor trouble in the home when mother attempts to dictate what father shall do on his new leisure time.

Can we really collect those war debts by breaking off business relations with the debtors?

or wage-earner. We grumble about taxes, but—except for real estate—we don't know what taxes are.

There is talk now in England, as a result of this surplus, of getting only $22.50 out of every $100.

TWO KINDS OF LEARNING

Human prodigies nearly always have their shortcomings, to console normal persons. There is the seven-year-old lad, for instance, in Chester, Pa., who has shamed all the other kids at school by starting in and doing five years' work in five months. He seems to learn everything for himself, at a rate that makes everybody else dizzy. But the principal has advised the boy's parents to take him out of school for a while and encourage him to play more.

The lad is not in poor health. In fact he is a stout little giant for his age, weighing 120 pounds. But he is physically soft. He seems to take no interest in anything but his school studies. In other matters he seems below, rather than above normal. Though he has read newspapers since he was three years old, he seems to know hardly anything about what is going on in the world.

A normal child learns far more outside of his books than he learns in them—from family, friends and other children, and from his own powers of observation.

ITALIAN DEFLATION

Economic measures in Italy interest Americans because they are almost diametrically opposite to ours. Whereas the Fascist dictatorship has tried drastic deflation, our government has operated along mildly inflationary lines. Now, while we continue our reflation, Italy deflates farther.

New orders issued by Premier Mussolini cut wages, salaries and prices. Wages are reduced, on the average, about as much as our industries have been raising them lately. Government salaries go down 20 per cent, but the employees get a 10 per cent discount on food. Landlords have to reduce rent 12 to 15 per cent. Food, clothing, rent, heat, light and transportation all drop, on scales ranging from 6 to 20 per cent.

Mussolini says he does this to reduce currency circulation, improve export trade and bring more tourists to Italy. It will doubtless accomplish these purposes.

But at what cost to the masses? Like the Japanese policy, and the Fascist policies of other lands, it tends to exploit the lower and middle classes to the advantage of the wealthier classes.

There is such a thing as deflating a country to death. The Italian government probably stops short of that, but the people may pay a high price. Even if their re-

MACHINES FOR HUMAN GOOD

In Bulletin 593 of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics may be found these figures concerning machines and men in a single industry—the making of electric lamps.

"In 1920," says the report, "362,140,000 lamps were made in the United States; in 1931, 503,350,000. In 1920, the industry employed 17,283 workers in its assembly plants, where nearly 60 per cent of its employees work; in 1931, the workers in these plants had declined to 5,817. Further, the man-hours per employee had declined even more sharply, the total man-hours falling from more than 36 million in 1920 to less than 12 million in 1931."

To set forth these facts is not to admit human defeat by the advancing machine. There are two sides to almost every such case.

Here on one side there are about 11,000 men thrown out of work by more efficient machinery and methods. On the other side there are 240,000,000 more electric lamps for 100,000,000 people, and all of those lamps better and cheaper.

Considerable new employment is required in the installation of the additional lamps and the equipment they involve. Any adequate reckoning, too, would take into account the opening of new avenues of employment through the creation of better lighting facilities throughout the country, by day and night, also the increased comfort and pleasure and lessened eyestrain from better illumination.

It is necessary, of course, to fight "technological unemployment" by direct means of many kinds, to lessen the hardships of the individuals actually thrown out of work. Much can be done through readjustment of hours and wages and unemployment insurance, and so on. But let us not overlook the positive benefits flowing to our society as a whole from our labor-saving and quality-improving devices.

Insull feels better because he's no longer a man without a country. And the country feels better because it's no longer without Insull.

Feminism is dead. Anne Lindbergh got her medal for eminence in air navigation without anybody calling her a "navigatrix."

Reduced cost of living matches their reduced wages, how do they get their depression debts paid? Or do the Italians, unlike Americans, have no debts?

FROM ALL PARTS OF NATION CAME CRIME NEWS ON SATURDAYFORCES LAW AND ORDER SCORE AT SOME POINTS IN CONTINUOUS BATTLE

(By The Associated Press)
Determined forces of the law battled crime in scattered sectors today, pursuing new trails in two kidnapping cases and pressing afresh the Dillinger search.

Two arrests were made in the kidnapping of 6-year-old June Robles, daughter of a reputedly wealthy Tucson, Ariz., cattleman, but the suspects, George R. Graham, 35, and John R. Pattie, 48, were released after questioning. The child still is missing.

William E. Vidler, 34, former Illinois convict, was held at Chicago as a suspect in the kidnapping of Edward Bremer, St. Paul banker. Federal agents said $2,665 of the $200,000 ransom money was found in Vidler's possession.

At Victorville, Calif., a deputy sheriff's pistol blazed death to desperate fugitives from San Quentin prison. The convicts, Wanda T. Stewart and Walter H. Wyeth, who kidnapped two policemen and held up a drug store in their flight, were killed by Deputy Sheriff R. Stanley Sheldiger.

Stewart and Wyeth were headed off as they fled north from San Bernardino where they had released the two San Rafael policemen and then held up a drug store.

Convict Escapes.
Randol Norvell, alleged master mind of the kidnapping last July of August Lauer, elderly Alton, Ill., banker, crawled through a sewer and escaped from the Southern Illinois prison at Mendon. Nearly 300 officers passed on an all-night searchlight hunt for him along the Mississippi river.

Scattered trails of John Dillinger's gangmen grew warmer. A bank robbery in a Chicago suburb started heavily armed police after Homer Van Meter, one of "W. O. G. N. J." henchmen. He was identified from photographs as one of five gunmen who terrorized four employees of the Villa Park Trust and Savings Bank and roared away in an automobile with $40,000 loot.

Police spread a net over southwest Michigan for Van Meter following reports he and a woman companion had fled in that direction.

Posses Seek Nelson.
The flight of another Dillinger henchman—George "Baby Face" Nelson—led toward Squirrel Lake, Wis., and dogged posses were after him. Nelson is accused of the slaying of Federal Agent W. C. Egan in the bloody encounter at Mercer, Wis., last Sunday night.

Bridges at Louisville were guarded on reports that three armed men, possibly other Dillinger associates, had been sighted near Sullivan, Ind.

At Washington, a $25,000 spur to the hunt for Dillinger was in the making. The house judiciary committee reported favorably a bill under which the federal government would be authorized to pay $25,000 reward for the capture of criminals. The only price now on Dillinger's head is $25,000 by Indiana for parole violators.

Officers in the vicinity of Hampton, New York, maintained a sharp lookout after a chiropractor reported two automobiles bearing a number of men and women stopped in front of a hotel and ordered drinks, later departing toward the east. It was thought the travellers might have been part of the Dillinger mob.

Two Men Questioned But Later Released

TUCSON, Ariz., April 28.—(P)—The dash of heavily armed officers for an unannounced destination added mystery today to the quest for kidnapers of six-year-old June Robles, missing for the fourth day after she was spirited away while returning from school.

While sheriff's deputies were on their mysterious mission, two men questioned at Phoenix for three hours were released when Tucson authorities expressed satisfaction with the explanation of their movements since the girl vanished.

Roy Morris, 35, who originally gave his name as George R. Graham, and John R. Pattie, 48, were picked up at a Phoenix automobile camp for questioning because their automobile answered one of the descriptions of a car used by men who made inquiries at June's school the day before she was abducted. After three hours of questioning they were released.

Authorities were kept busy denying the many rumors which kept the city alive with a variety of stories regarding the kidnapping. Chief among the reports which met prompt denials was one that the little brown-eyed girl had been released.

One Dead, Two Wounded in Duel In School HouseNACOGDOCHES, April 27.—(P)

A gun fight in the Seed Tick community last night caused the death of one man and the probable fatal wounding of two others.

Joe T. Clevenger, Jr., 31, was killed outright, eight bullets hitting him. Four struck him in the face and four others tore into his body.

Curtis Waggoner, 18, was in a dying condition with several pistol bullet wounds in the body. Tom Looney, 45, was in almost as critical a condition with wounds in the abdomen.

The encounter occurred on the highway in front of the Seed Tick community school house and, so far as officers here could learn from reports reaching them, resulted from a family quarrel. Seed Tick community is in the western part of Nacogdoches county.

The sheriff of Nacogdoches county and some deputies started for Seed Tick community to ascertain the facts of the case. They said they had been unable to learn much by telephoning, as residents of the community were reluctant to talk about the shooting.

One man was arrested and brought to jail here but had not been charged. The sheriff said he expected to have evidence upon which to base charges late today upon his return to Nacogdoches. Clevenger, member of a well-known western Nacogdoches county family, was buried in the community today.

Schools Presented With Portraits Of J. Antonio Navarro

All of the Corsicana public schools are the recipients of large framed and attractive portraits of Jose Antonio Navarro as presented by John W. Another photograph of Navarro was presented to the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce and hangs in a prominent place in the headquarters of this organization.

Negro Arrested On Charge of Theft

A negro was arrested in the southeastern section of the county Friday morning and was placed in jail on charge of the alleged theft of two watches from his father-in-law. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriffs J. M. Westbrook and Jack Floyd and Constable A. H. Holloway of Kerna.

JAPAN OFFICIALLY INTERPRETS POLICY ON CHINA SATURDAYSAYS HAS NOT INTENTION CENSORING OTHER NATION'S RELATIONS

Associated Press Foreign Staff.
TOKYO, April 28.—(P)—Japan issued an "official" interpretation of her restated policy toward China today.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota said in a statement that Japan "can not remain indifferent" to foreign efforts to aid China the "endanger the peace of Asia."

Japan has no desire to interfere with the rights of other powers in China, the statement added, and will welcome other nations' dealings with China provided such dealings rebound to China's benefit.

The statement was expressed that the government would convince governments alarmed by the April 17 declaration that there never had been any intention to assert Japan's right to censor the relations of occidental nations with China.

The statement in full was delivered only to Ambassador Joseph C. Grew of the United States and to the British ambassador, Sir Francis Lindley, in response to their questions concerning the earlier declaration.

Only the high points of the statement were made public. The text will probably be made public Monday.

Earlier Statement Misinterpreted

A foreign office spokesman declared the earlier statement was not intended for publication. He said it was a synopsis of a communication of the Japanese minister to China.

Hirota told the two envoys that Japan has no intention of violating China's sovereignty and integrity, desires the unification of China, supports the open-door policy, equal opportunities policies and has no intention of infringing on existing treaties.

Diplomatic circles, while pointing out that the new statement is along with earlier lines of that of April 17, remarked that it was couched in more conciliatory terms.

The foreign office vigorously declared that Hirota was not responsible for the April 17 pronouncement which had become widely known as Japan's "hands-off China" policy.

It is presumed that Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, will present Hirota's statement to parliament Monday.

Took CARDUI During The Change of Life

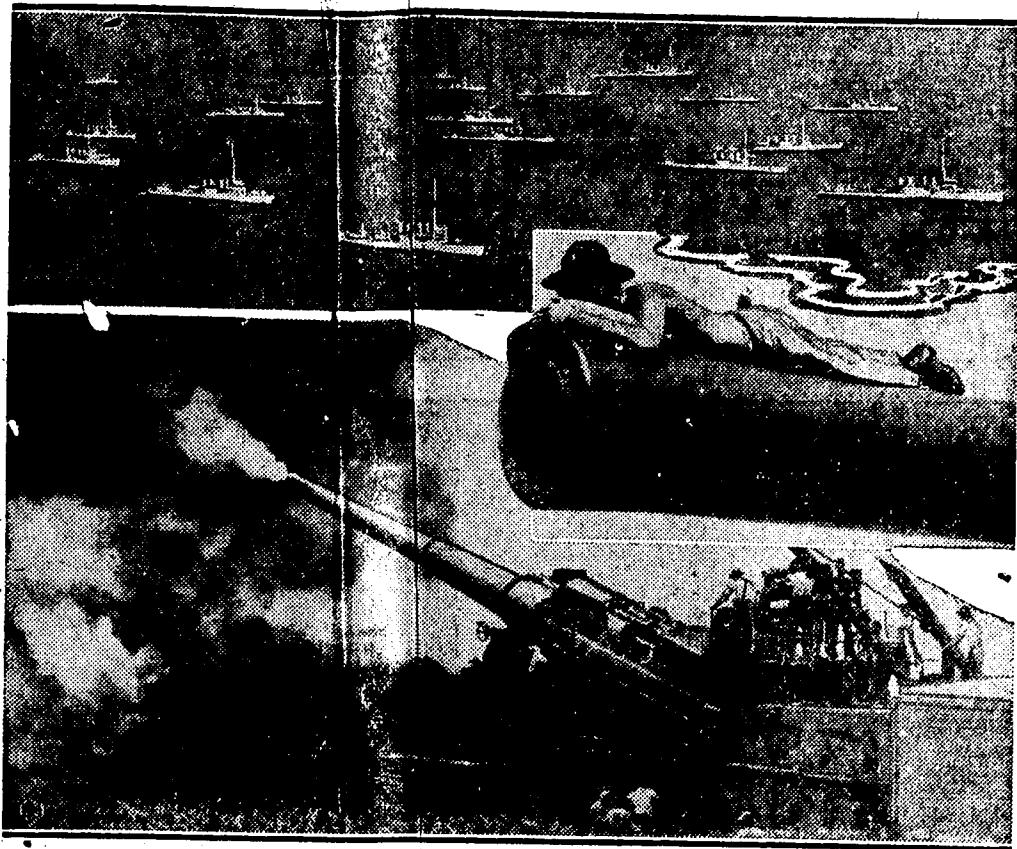

Cardui is purely vegetable, harmless, for women of all ages. Many women who have used it advise their daughters and friends to try it. "I took Cardui for weakness during the change of life," writes Mrs. Clara C. Allen, of Enfield, Ill. "It helped me and built up my strength. I also gave it to my two daughters and they were helped. I think Cardui is a good medicine during the change and for girls. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

British Ruling May Bar Them From Air Derby

The action of the Royal Aero Club of Great Britain in making last-minute change in rules and regulations of London-Australia air derby has brought bitter protest from the American National Aeronautic Association. F. Trubee Davison, former Assistant Secretary of War, secretary of the contest committee N. A. A. designated Aero Club's attitude as "ridiculous," charging that it would bar most American long-distance planes. According to the ruling only standard commercial planes would be eligible for the race—more than $50,000 U. S. planes with special speed planes, such as Colonel Roscoe Turner, Jimmy Doolittle and Jimmy Wedell, would be barred or obliged to build new planes conforming to specification required by rules. Amelia Earhart, too, Mrs. Louise Thaden and Frances Marshall, who were reported entrants in the race, will have to get new planes if the Aero Club adheres to its drastic ruling.

Held As Master Gem Thief

Described by police as the master mind in jewel robberies netting $2,000,000, Hugo Willgerod (right) is shown shackled to detectives after his arrest at Englewood, N. J. He was taken to New York, where police seek to link him to jewel robberies of which Grace Moore, opera diva, Mrs. August Belmont, Jr., Mrs. Harry Glemby and others were the victims.

Did Trapped Raffles Raid Their Jewels?

Although specifically charged with two jewel robberies, Hugo Willgerod, recently trailed to Englewood, N. J., and arrested by New York detectives, is suspected as the master mind in a score of gem thefts from society women and actresses, value of loot from which is said to be nearly $2,000,000. Two robberies for which Willgerod is indicted are those of $25,000 worth of gems from Gertrude Williams, Folies girl who later died in poverty, and $90,000 from Mrs. Marjorie Ardell, wife of the noted musical comedy director. Among other victims of the gang, say police, Willgerod was the head, are Grace Moore, opera singer; Mrs. Richard Mestres, society beauty, who was fleeced of $50,000 in jewels; Mrs. Stanwood Menken, $150,000; Mrs. Harry Glemby, $300,000; Mrs. Theresa Noble, $100,000, and Mrs. Thorne Kissell, wife of the banker, $10,000. Willgerod was traced through clever detective work built on the slim clue of the birth certificate of a child born to his woman companion.

Principal figures in the new Far Eastern crisis, precipitated by Japan's "Asia for Asiatics" policy are Uchiro Yokoyama, Japanese Consul General at Geneva, who acted as his country's spokesman in serving formal notice on the world of a Japanese "Monroe Doctrine" in Asia; Sir John Simon, British Foreign Minister, who dispatched a note to Japan, reminding that country of Nine-Power Pact, which establishment of a protectorate over China would violate; Quo T'ai-Chi, Chinese Minister to London, who bluntly accused Japan of attempting to gain domination of the entire Pacific area; Koki Hirota, Japanese Foreign Minister, who declares that Japan's only aim is to preserve peace in Eastern Asia, and Hiroshi Saito, Japanese Ambassador to Washington, who says his country will honor all pacts and hints that cause of "hands-off" policy is result of sale of American bombing planes to China.

BACK NEWS

It is always great news when the hair-dressing styles really change. Since the advent of the bob—so long back now that some of us grown folk can't remember the long haired era—nothing very sensational has developed. A few years ago hair got longer, at least almost to the shoulder, and was turned up at the ends. This gave a new appearance to the back of the head at least, and was very flattering to the woman whose hair was not well shaped. Now there is another change.

It is mainly in the front. Whether or not Miss Hepburn is responsible or not, I do not know—in any case her publicity agent will claim it. But the waved and somewhat frizzy pompadour is a definitely new line; anyhow for modern dresses. You can achieve it in two ways, but whichever way you choose, you must be careful to have the back of the hair nicely trimmed, so that view is also attractive.

One way is to cut the front hair to about five inches, and then to twist it on small curlers, to make it fluff and frizz. When released from the curlers comb it up, to fluff it above the forehead, yet to keep it narrow above the ears. The other way is to have the hair done in a marcel in front, combed loosely back and held with a comb on top. Either way means short hair in back, straightened to a point rather low on the neck, to balance this pompadour. A lot of short curls in back are a good idea, too, to give you a quaint, yet boyish appearance. You can manage this yourself by using the curling iron on the short ends. Just a half turn of the iron and the straight ends will be given a little twist which will make them most becoming. Or, if your hair is long enough, have a loose, slanting water wave, for this makes your hair look fashionable and different in the back. Any wave helps your looks.

Youth Charged In Connection Theft Of Auto Is Released

Reno Williams, named in a complaint in connection with the alleged theft of the car belonging to A. P. Maye, was released from jail Friday and Cleo G. Miller, criminal district attorney, said Friday afternoon that investigations showed Williams was not connected with the case and the charges against him would be dismissed.

Williams was arrested in Brenham along with Rex Brannon, and was returned here Thursday by Deputy Sheriff J. M. Westbrook and City Officer Marion Griffin. Brannon was still in jail Friday afternoon. Officers said Brannon exonerated Williams of any guilt. Williams has been working at Brenham for some time, it was stated.

FAIRFIELD NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST; OIL INTEREST HIGH

FAIRFIELD, April 28.—(Spl.)—W. O. Hunt, aged 50, well known business man of Oakwood, died Monday. Burial was in the Oakwood cemetery Tuesday.

E. T. Swartzington, aged about 35 years, single, insurance man of Palestine, was drowned in Red Lake Saturday afternoon about 3 o'clock. His body was recovered shortly afterward and carried to Palestine in a Steward & Burleson ambulance.

The Freestone County Singing Convention met here Sunday in what was pronounced to be the most successful and entertaining ever held in the county. Many special features were given. Grayson, president, presided and it was estimated 1200 to 1500 people were present.

Commissioner's court met Thursday to consider offering right of way and surveying from the river to Fairfield for a highway from Athens to connect with No. 7 at Athens or near Fairfield. Officials here encouraged to believe the state will build the road if Freestone and Henderson counties will furnish right of way. The road would be the Cayuga oil field and would develop the richest section of Henderson and Freestone counties. Also it would make Fairfield a convenient center for oil men developing the new oil field.

The Bi-Stone Federation of Women's clubs will meet in the Groesbeck city hall on Saturday, May 5, at 10 a. m. The Home Demonstration clubs of Limestone county will serve as hostesses.

The big Daniel-Shell well which blew in Thursday last week as a strong gasser is receiving close attention of the oil fraternity and shows much promise of making a good oil well. The well was cemented and cased on Wednesday. Because of the heavy pressure the operators will wait eight days before drilling the plug lease to avoid running the hole. Leases are running from $5 to $50 per acre. The well is on a block of 7000 acres owned by the Shell Company and the Daniel Oil & Royalty Company.

It was reported from a reliable source that Ben Cardonovic, oil operator, would make a location Thursday for a well on the A. N. McCallum 280-acre grant on the Aquilera tract, five miles southwest of Red Lake, and about two miles southwest of the Daniel Shell well.

A small area in the Post Oak community was hit by a heavy hail and wind storm late in the afternoon which did much damage to gardens and crops. Some cotton will have to be replanted.

Honor Graduate of Rural Shade School

KERENS, April 30.—(Spl.)—Miss Mary Jewel Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Barnett of Kerens, Route 4, was chosen honor graduate of her class in the Rural Shade school.

For County Clerk. In another section of the paper will be found the formal announcement of Homer E. Pace as a candidate for the office of county clerk of Navarro county, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

He is a familiarly known to many people, was born and reared in Corsicana and has spent his entire life in this city. He was in the wholesale grocery business with his father, the late Captain S. A. Pace, one of the pioneers of Corsicana and Navarro county. For the past few years he has been a traveling salesman for the Maury-Cole Coffee Company of Dallas.

This is the first time that Homer has sought a political office, but his previous business experience is believed by his friends to fit him for the proper discharge of the duties of this office. Homer solicits the vote of the democratic voters and the influence of all his friends in this campaign and promises in event he is elected that the office will be conducted in an efficient, courteous and economic manner. JAPAN

(Continued From Page One.) The "hands off" policy by a foreign office spokesman. Hirota's statement gave assurance that Japan has no intention of opposing the open door policy in China, or violating existing treaties or interfering with any activities of other powers which would redound to China's benefit.

So far as the Japanese people know today, the government's position and that declared April 17, based on instructions dispatched by the foreign office to Akira Arisuyoshi, Japanese minister to China, remains unaltered.

Open Door Accepted By Japan is Claim

LONDON, April 30.—(AP)—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, told the house of commons today that Japan has fully accepted the policy of the "open door" for all nations in China.

The foreign secretary's statement was made before a house packed with members and spectators anxious to hear the government's attitude on the Japanese "hands off" China" doctrine, unofficially stated Feb. 17.

Sir John said that Sir Francis Lindley, British ambassador in Tokyo, had pointed out to Koki Hirota, the Japanese foreign minister, that the principle of equal rights in China was very explicitly guaranteed by the nine-power treaty signed at Washington in 1922, to which Japan was a signatory.

The British ambassador had explained that the British government must continue to enjoy all rights in China, in common with other signatories, the foreign secretary said.

He told his hearers that Japan had informed the British government it has no intention of interfering with "the common rights" of other powers in China and has reaffirmed its policy of the maintenance of the open door.

He said Japan had given assurance that she will observe the nine-power treaty. (The treaty signed by Japan, China, Great Britain, France, Holland, and other nations certifies the right of the signatories to carry on legitimate business in China and guarantees the integrity of that nation.)

Lindley explained to Hirota, Simon said, that Japanese anxiety in regard to China could not apply to Great Britain, "since it was the aim of the British policy to avoid dangers to the peace and integrity of China."

The British communication to the Japanese added, however, that Great Britain could not admit the right of Japan alone to decide whether any particular act constituted such a danger.

Sir John concluded his brief explanation and then, in reply to a supplementary question, declared that in view of the statement of the Japanese foreign minister, the British government was prepared to leave the matter as stood.

"Great Britain," he said, "is resolved to assist to the utmost possible extent the principle of international co-operation in the progress of China toward peace and prosperity and the maintenance of a spirit of harmony and good will in the Far East."

BUSINESS

(Continued From Page One.) greater than in the previous month and 56 per cent larger than in March, 1933, the latter increase being due in part to the closing of the banks for two weeks in March last year.

The prospects for agriculture and livestock were materially bettered as a result of general rains in March and the first half of April. Small grains have made rapid improvement. Farmers generally have made good progress with planting operations although this work has been retarded in some areas by wet soil. Vegetation on the ranges is greening and in some sections is furnishing considerably grazing. Livestock have come through the winter in fairly good condition and reports indicate that they are taking on flesh. While the added moisture in the eastern half of the district has relieved to some extent the effects of the prolonged drouth, there are many areas where there is a marked deficiency in soil moisture and more rain is urgently needed.

Bank Business. The daily average of combined net demand and time deposits of member banks was well sustained during March. The average for the month amounted to $728,121,000 and while it was $342,000 below that in February, it exceeded the average for March last year by $125,798,000. The March figure was $148,013,000 above the low level reached in August, 1933.

Construction activity reflected a considerable improvement. The valuation of building permits issued at principal cities in March averaged 42 per cent larger than in February and 5 per cent above that in March last year.

ESCAPE

Still Seek Illinois Convicts. CHESTER, Ill., April 30.—(AP)—Marked by their prison garb, two felons who wormed their way to freedom through a 14-inch sewer at the Southern Illinois penitentiary, were hunted again today in southeast Missouri.

A few steps ahead of hundreds of possumen, Randol Eugene Morrell, life-term kidnaper, eluded his pursuers last night and boarded a train into Missouri.

With Norvell, arch-conspirator in the kidnapping last July of August Luer, 77, Alton banker and meat packer, was James O'Connell, convicted Effingham burglar. They escaped last Friday night.

Several persons saw the fugitives, still wearing their prison uniforms, board a south-bound Missouri Pacific freight train six miles north of Gorham. After crawling 400 yards through the prison sewer, Norvell and O'Connell crossed the Mississippi in a rowboat, but early yesterday they stole a motorboat and doubled back into Illinois.

BYRD AND HIS EXPEDITION HAVE DUG IN FOR LONG AND DARK ANTARCTIC WINTERTIME

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, April 27.—Delayed.—(AP)—Although isolated in an underground ice dugout in which he is spending a lonely winter conducting meteorological observations, Commander Richard E. Byrd still is directing the activities of his field camp 123 miles away. He is doing it by radio.

The veteran polar explorer, completing his first month of self-imposed solitary confinement, radioed that he was digging a third emergency tunnel, in which he is housed his scientific instruments and supplies.

At Little America, the men are putting the airplanes into cold storage for safe keeping. The big Condor plane, with its wing spread of 82 feet, now is being buried in the snow and ice.

Drifts had arisen around the landing truss of the plane until the lower wing was level with the snow. Two deep passages were cut under the lower wing sections and the snow which was heaved out were used in building a six-foot wall around the plane.

The flooring of the passages will be driven deeper and the excavating under the skis. When the shelter is completed, the skis will be eleven feet under the surface.

The finished hangar will follow roughly an oversize pattern of the plane. There will be room enough for the aviation unit to work on the engines and plane during the winter as the shelter will be roofed over with a tarpaulin as soon as the Condor is buried.

Two other planes will be similarly accommodated. Connecting passages between the hangars will be constructed.

Diminished daylight proved the greatest obstacle and the men were forced to start shoveling and digging by the light of a gasoline lantern. The few hours of daylight were overcast and bleak.

The weather has moderated after seven days of snow, the temperature standing at a mere 32 degrees below zero.

You'd never dream that $5.00 could do so much -- two lovely silk dresses for less than you would expect to pay for one as fine as these. You'd scarcely hope for silks like these -- or styles so smart -- and you'd never in the world find them at this remarkable price if we hadn't made a really remarkable purchase! -- But we did, and they're here but they won't last many days at these prices -- Here's your great chance to complete that summer wardrobe.
